Entertainment Descriptions

S&S Children's Choir is performing for their third year at the Texoma Earth Day Festival. Their performance this year will include some Earth Day songs with a variety of other music.

The Dillingham Intermediate Trojan Choir is pleased to perform for you today: The Song that Nature Sings by Ruth E. Schram; Skip, Skip, Shoo-Fly-Shoo by Mary L. Lightfoot; For the Beauty of the Earth; Alouette a French/Canadian Folk Song by Andy Beck; and The Water is Wide by Ruth E. Schram.

Jan's Musical Memories - Jan Fletcher is performing for the third year at the Texoma Earth Day Festival.

The program includes Classic Country, Hit Parade Favorites, Pop Standards, Early Rock n' Roll, Broadway Blockbusters, and Nostalgic oldies from the 20's thru the 80's.

Tai Chi Demonstration – Tai Chi is a very old Chinese martial art form. It can be thought of as a slow moving meditation. Tai Chi is performed slowly, softly, and gracefully with smooth and even transitions between each movement. You get the same benefits of an aerobic workout without the jarring on the joints – which is great for arthritis. In Tai Chi you will learn how to release your stress, improve your balance and prevent falls, strengthen your muscle and bone mass, relax your mind and body, breathe properly, improve your circulation, flexibility and posture. Tai Chi is also known to lower your blood pressure and help with depression. Although you would not think so, every movement is also for self-defense. All ages are welcome. You are never too old to begin.

Workshop Descriptions

Workshop Area 1:

Devonshire Recorder Consort – The Devonshire Recorder Consort is returning for the second year to the Texoma Earth Day Festival.

Keynote: Dan Phillips. The American Neurosis – This lecture covers the topic of building low-income housing, with a minimum wage crew, with free, salvage, and recycled materials. The causes of waste are explored - ranging from deep cultural and primal bent to the flagrant consumerism in our society. Modes for addressing the cultural shortcomings associated with "homeless" families are explored, with a summary of what an average person could do to help.

Clean Up Your Neighborhood – Ways that your local government can use Texas laws to fight pollution. Based on the book "Cleaning Up Your Community: Citizens Guide to Local Environmental Enforcement" by John Ockels

Save $ - Make your Own Soap – Will teach you how to make your own laundry detergent. It's fast, it's easy, it's much cheaper than store-bought detergent, and it works just as well. The workshop will also include, as a bonus, making your own dishwasher detergent and toothpaste.

What's On Your Fork? This workshop is designed to be an informative session that will help people begin to navigate the world of healthy food and sort through the loads of information available in today's healthy, local, organic food movement. The session is not intended to be inflammatory or one-sided. It will promote fruit and vegetable consumption, and local purchasing when possible.

Raised Accessible Gardens & Gardening for Life: Catherine Rainbow and Nicole Morgan are co-presenters for this workshop. Catherine has started the Four Corners 4-H Raised Garden Project to assist those who have physical limitations in raising their own vegetables. She has partnered with Nicole who has assisted her in the project and advised her in matters of rehabilitation. Catherine will share her journey of discovery while Nicole will talk about how gardening can benefit you physically, mentally and emotionally and enhance your quality of life.

Workshop Area 2:

Trees with Howard Siegel – Care & Maintenance, Planting & Preserving Free Burr Oak Raffle ticket awarded to all workshop attendees.

Health from the Hive

2011 American Honey Princess Allison Adams of Plano, TX will discuss the many products produced by honeybees for health and well-being. She will also talk about the art of keeping bees.

Water Harvesting – New Era Jonathan Castro will talk about methods of water harvesting beyond rain barrels (which some consider unsightly). To keep the water cooler in our hot climate a cistern system that is below grade is becoming popular. This allows the home owner to circulate the water and also develop a water feature in the yard. The water becomes energized through oxygenation instead of stagnating in the barrel.

S&S Children's Choir

The after school choir has been in existence for three years. They have received a one rating (the highest) at Sandy Lake's "Fun Fest" for the last two years. They have sung with both Sherman High School and Denison High School Choirs when they needed a children's choir for their performance. They meet one day a week after school. The students work very hard and sing very well.

The Dillingham Intermediate Trojan Choir is made up of 6th grade students with a passion for vocal musicianship. Students study vocal health, rhythms, Solfege, ear training, and sight singing. They also discuss the important role vocal music plays in history, films and expression of feelings. Singing a wide repertoire begins a rich education in their Choral experiences at Sherman ISD. Dillingham Choir performs Winter Concerts at Sherman High School, Spring Concerts at Dillingham Intermediate and will go to The Sandy Lake Contest on May 10th.

Jan Fletcher

Jan has been associated with the Dallas Symphony Chorus, Lone Star Sound and Vocal Venue, all in the Metroplex. Since she moved to the Texoma area in 2007 she has performed with the Sherman Community Players in "The Music Man", in the Rehabilitation Center's "Search for the Stars" in 2008; and joined the Villagers Chorale in 2010. Jan's Musical Memories began in 2005 in the Metroplex to provide vocal entertainment for a variety of senior living facilities. She now covers Grayson, Collin, Bonham, Denton, Dallas and Wichita Counties in Texas singing for seniors and private parties. Using recorded CD tracks, Jan shares her enthusiastic joy of music which reflects many generations and styles.

Keynote Speaker Biography

Dan Phillips

Dan is the founder of The Phoenix Commotion, a building initiative in Texas to provide housing for low-income families. It was created to prove that constructing homes with recycled and salvaged materials has a viable place in the building industry. This process uses only apprentice labor, in addition to the homeowners themselves, and teaches marketable skills to anyone with a work ethic who is willing to swing a hammer. No two are alike due to the myriad of materials used, so there is an artistic element that makes Phoenix Commotion homes truly unique.

Chris Goldsmith started making his own laundry soap three and a half years ago, to deal with the exponential increase in laundry that came with having a newborn in cloth diapers. As he says "If some goop I make in my kitchen in a five-gallon bucket can handle cloth diapers, it can handle anything." Chris does this with a very busy schedule. He is a husband, a father of two, a graduate student, a writing instructor, a haphazard homesteader, a bicycles-as-transportation enthusiast, an avid reader, a mildly entertaining blogger, a long-time Sherman resident, a Luddite who never goes anywhere without his iPhone, and the sort of person who doesn't know or care what kind of grass is growing in his yard.

Susie Marshall is the Executive Director of The Gleaning Network of Texas. She has been in the world of agriculture and gleaning for nearly eight years. During that time, Susie has discovered for herself the integral part that food plays in our lives and in our society. She believes that everyone deserves access to fresh, healthy food. Susie holds a Master's Degree in Health and Physical Education from Texas A&M Commerce and a Master's of Theological Studies from Perkins School of Theology at SMU.

Allison Adams, 2011 American Honey Princess, is the daughter of Ned and Caryl Adams of Plano, TX. She currently teaches art to elementary and high school students. She began keeping bees six years ago through a youth scholarship program in a local beekeeping association and has thoroughly enjoyed it ever since. Allison also enjoys cooking and baking, drawing, sustainable agriculture, playing traditional folk music, and spending time with her family. As the American Honey Princess, Allison serves as a national spokesperson for the American Beekeeping Federation, a trade association representing beekeepers throughout the United States, and travels throughout the United States promoting the beekeeping and honey industry.

Harold Spiegel founded Preservation Tree Services in 1995. Harold is committed to planting, nurturing and preserving one of our most precious resources: trees and their associated plant partners. He has an educational background in plant culture and plant maladies. A particular passion for Harold is the preservation of trees in the construction site and he has worked extensively in the Dallas-Fort Worth residential and commercial sector in this behalf for over 25 years. Prior to establishing his arborist career and business, he was a commercial artist and technical illustrator for McDonnell-Douglas Corp.

His educational experience includes doctoral studies in plant pathology and nematology at Oklahoma State University and the University of Florida. He earned his Bachelor of Science degree in botany and chemistry from Southeast Missouri State University. He has also completed additional academic work in landscape design and construction. In 2011, Harold was named One of the 20 Most Influential People in the Green Industry by Arbor Age magazine.

Jonathan Castro is the owner and operator of Texoma Landscapes & Garden Center. He graduated from Austin College and has been in business for 27 years in the Texoma area. He is also the President of Fannin County Master Gardeners.
